Legal & General Investment Management appoints Richard Lee as Chief Financial Officer

Legal & General Investment Management (LGIM), today announced the appointment of Richard Lee as Chief Financial Officer, reporting to Mark Zinkula, Chief Executive Officer.

Richard's most recent role was Group Performance Director for Legal & General Group and he has held a number of positions across the organisation since joining Legal & General in 1997. As Group Performance Director, he was responsible for driving financial performance across the retirement, insurance, investment management and capital divisions. Prior to this, Richard held the positions of Chief Financial Officer and Chief Risk Officer in Legal & General Retirement (LGR).

Mark Zinkula, CEO at LGIM, said: "We are very fortunate to have Richard joining LGIM as CFO. Given his broad experience working across various businesses within Legal & General, Richard is ideally suited for this position as LGIM continues to develop its business in the UK and internationally."

Richard Lee said: "It has been a rewarding and fulfilling experience working for such a dynamic company over the past 20 years. I am looking forward to embarking on this new opportunity at an exciting time for LGIM, and asset management in general, which is continuing to innovate as the industry evolves in response to changing client needs."

Richard will be taking over from Siobhan Boylan, who announced in August that she was leaving LGIM to join Brewin Dolphin as Finance Director. Siobhan and Richard will work together closely over the next few months to ensure an orderly and carefully managed handover. Richard's appointment is subject to regulatory approval.

Michael Rallings, currently Group Capital Director, will move into Richard's role as Group Performance Director.
